The map illustrates the layout of W. S. Gibbs Memorial Park, bounded by Gibbs Road on the north and east. The park is divided into several distinct landscapes: a large area of wooded areas (green with circles) on the left and top, a prairie area (tan) on the right, and a reforestation area (green with dots) at the bottom left. A large future park area (orange with diagonal lines) is located on the far left. The map features a network of trails: Bluestem Bend (green line), Oriole Stroll (yellow line), Monarch Way (pink line), Heron Hideaway (orange line), Forebay Crossing (blue line), Turtle Crawl (red line), and Walnut Walkway (dark red line). Various park amenities are marked with icons: a parking lot, firefly and bluegill shelters, an observation/sledding hill, a playground, disc golf, and a dock. The map also shows a concrete path and the park property line (dashed line). A legend in the top right corner provides a key for all these elements.
